Hi Steven,

I hope you are well. We are eventually settled in with all the extension work finished so now circling back on a few things we'd like to look at again one, one of which is the blinds in our main bedroom.

The light in the morning really bothers Claire so we are wondering what the options are to replace the roman blinds with something that is completely blacked out at the edges. We are also finding we don't open them enough so were wondering about something electronic.

Perhaps cassetted roller blinds like we have in the games room as I think there was an electrically operated option?

Appreciate your thoughts and happy to receive a quote for the 2 windows assuming you have all the measurements. Or we can pop in sometime if best to discuss.

Many thanks,
Paul

Hi Steven,

2362

Hope you had a good break.

Just a heads up that some other things appear to be behind so there may be other workmen onsite tomorrow as well - plumber for example. Also that we have cleaners booked in for the Tuesday (not sure time though can't
