Good Afternoon Alice

Please see images and pricing for the Dura garage.
I will send an official quotation through our CRM system also, but this gives the full breakdown and costs related to the system
This information is from the manufacturer
Price included stud work* the wall around the boiler, excluded GST
It looks fabulous !

*We have also included our dark grey 7mm studded tile in this proposal.
We have bought the 600mm deep storage cabinets off of the back wall to allow pipework etc behind not to impede. Also this hopefully allows the shallow cabinet to just have the back panel removed to allow access to the AV/IT box. The tall shelving unit with Narrow depth – RS093 – 900mm wide x 2000m high x 300mm deep is sent out from the factory with Flush front feet for transport, these will need to be relocated to the pre-cut set back position prior to install.*

This proposal does require yourselves to purchase the relevant battens, as usual, and for your installers to build out a stud wall, source and install a door for the plant room. Without ceiling height dimension, we have assumed 7 store panels in height, which allows the actual ceiling to be up to 2695mm from the floor. If the ceiling is any higher than this, then an 8th panel would be needed on each section.*
