Hi Fraser

Yes it is just the heater receiver which fits neatly in to the heater itself, no need for the actual visual to change, a standard part.

Ben has spoke to me this morning and has explained that the vibration sensors will need to be changed, two of them.

It is running off one at the moment but we swapped as a temp measure for one we had to ensure was safe to act within this awful weather are having.

The current one is draining the circuit board.

It will be best for me to quote for two of those also if being honest. Would you like me to include this also ?

Kind Regards

Scotty

Thanks Scott

Yes - please do go ahead and order a replacement heater. I assume you will get a replica of the one that's there?
No need for a quote.

All the best and thanks again

Hi Ali & Fraser

Ben has just informed me he met you Ali and when he left could not find you so has left the awning remote under the awning on the table.

We have raised the pitch as high as it can possibly go also.

We will need to order a new heater receiver to get you up and running for the heater advised, would you like me to prep a quote for you?

If you can please let me know I shall be back in touch.

Kind regards,

Scotty
