Attached is the email where it is made clear that I did not want any drilling of the double glazing.

It invalidates the warranty for the double glazing it breaks the seal between the upvc and double glazing no matter how small the hole.

I also spoke about this yesterday when I called to confirm what time he would arrive.

I understand you will call me this morning to discuss.

Thank you

Regarding the wire, other than drilling a hole through the frame of the double glazing there is not way of stopping this from possibly happening again.

And as I cannot have a whole drilled in the double glazing frame for obvious reasons, I will just have to continue to be careful closing the glass and make sure no one slams them open or closed again.
