- Terms & Conditions -

Westcountry Blinds ("We", "us", "the company", "our") aims to trade fairly and ethically with our customers ("you", "your") to standards that meet or exceed

- General -

Acceptance of these terms and conditions is implied by you placing an order with us, either verbally or in writing or by your use of our website and they shall be binding on you. These terms and conditions may be modified from time to time and you will be bound by our terms and conditions prevailing at the time of your order. You acknowledge that these terms and conditions govern the entire contract between us and you and supersede all preceding agreements between us and you. The provisions of these terms and conditions shall prevail over any other terms and conditions. If you breach any of these terms and conditions and we take no action against you, we retain the right to use our rights and remedies in the event of any breach. If any part of these terms and conditions is unenforceable for legal or statutory reasons, the rest of the terms and conditions shall remain in full force.

We reserve the right to make changes to our range of goods, services and prices without notice, but such changes shall not affect your rights as a consumer. You must be over 18 years of age to enter into any contract with us.

You must have the funds and a suitable mechanism for payment sufficient for meeting your obligations, before entering into a contract with us.

We reserve at our discretion at any time without explanation the right not to trade with you.

- Intellectual Property, Copyright, Designs and Content -

The intellectual property, including website content (photographs, graphics, text and design), HTML code and programming, printed material, design drawings and all other content is the property of Westcountry Blinds Ltd.

- Your Rights -

Your statutory rights will apply to all transactions between us and you.

Consumer protection legislation applies to consumers (customers not acting in the course of a business) and provides that goods we supply to you will be subject to the Consumer Rights Act 2015. For orders placed on our website, your purchases will also be subject to the Distance Selling Regulations, which provide for cancellation of an order by you. Business customers are not subject to the same legislation, but are subject to these terms and conditions of business except as specifically amended by these terms and conditions.

- Limits to Our Liability -

We reserve the right to change or discontinue any or all of the goods and services that we make available to you and we shall not be liable to you for any consequential loss. In the event of any defect or failure in the goods or services supplied to you, our liability shall be limited to the price paid by you for such specific goods or services. We take care to provide accurate product information to you, but we cannot be held responsible for typographical or similar errors in product descriptions. We will not be held liable for any direct or consequential losses due to our failure to meet our contractual obligations to you when due to circumstances, events or actions beyond our control.

- Privacy and Data Protection -

We will protect your privacy and use your information in accordance with the Data Protection Act 1998. Westcountry Blinds Ltd is the data controller for the information you provide to us. We will only disclose your information to our essential service partners, such as our card payment processor, credit and security agency (anti-fraud), delivery company, and other service providers. We will take all reasonable steps to ensure the safety of any personal information that you give to us. There are some inherent risks in transmitting sensitive information over the internet. We do keep your details on our database (any payment details, including card details are kept securely in encryption by Sagepay, our payment processor). Visitors to our website may receive "cookies" from us. These are small information files that enable the websites to recognise you and save you time if you return. If you are not happy with our use of Cookies, then you should either not use this site, or you should delete cookies having visited the site, or you should block cookies. We will disclose your details to a properly authorised authority if required to do so by law or in relation to any safety, fraud, or criminal matter. In the event of Westcountry Blinds Ltd passing in part or as a whole to new ownership, our database may pass with the business, subject to the undertakings given to you. You may check with us at any time the details that you have provided to us. We will ask you for proof of identity before giving you such details.

- Ordering From Us -

A contract is made between us and you when you have submitted an order to us and we have accepted that order and confirmed delivery arrangements at that time. Delivery of an order may be delayed by carriers or other cause, such as a supply problem. We will not be held liable for costs or damages arising from such delays. Whilst we make every effort to be accurate in the details that we provide you with, if we have made an error in a price quoted to you or in any other significant detail, we will provide you with a corrected price. We will provide prices for our goods and services and confirm these at time of order acceptance by us. In the event of further goods or services being required, we will provide you with a revised price. We retain title (ownership) to the goods we have provided to you until they have been paid for in full. Regardless of title or any other considerations, you be liable for the goods. If you ask us to store your goods for you, we will do so at your risk. If we make a charge for such storage, we will be responsible for loss, damage or theft. Unless clearly stated otherwise, estimates and quotations are made exclusive of VAT, which will be added at the rate prevailing at the relevant contract date. Goods offered for sale on our website are priced at VAT inclusive prices when sold in the United Kingdom except when stated otherwise.

On larger project work, specifications may be subject to change by us due to availability or suitability of specified items, but such changes shall not be deemed to constitute a breach of contract. You are asked to ensure that we can gain access to your premises where necessary for the completion of your work. If we fail to gain access at an agreed time, we will not be held liable for any consequential loss. All credit account customers will be required to make deposit payments and, on larger projects, stage payments, balanced up to the contract price with a final payment. Particular terms may apply to such customers and may differ in detail from these terms and conditions. These different terms and conditions will be disclosed to you at the time of ordering. Credit facilities may be withdrawn or orders suspended or refused at any time without notice if credit account customers do not adhere to their agreed terms and conditions.

- Returns and Cancellations Retail Customers -

If you are a non-business customer and have not ordered goods or services through our websites, returns and cancellations are treated in the same way as for goods or services ordered through our websites.

- Returns and Cancellations Website Customers -

In addition to consumer and statutory rights, the Distance Selling Regulations apply to Retail customers ordering on the website. Please see our Delivery & Returns page for more information.
